

Advisors

Students, or student organizations, may choose to bring one advisor with them when engaging in any of the following processes. In all cases, this advisor may be anyone of the student's or organization's choosing, including an attorney. The role of this advisor is to assist the student or organization in reflecting on their choices and to assist with the learning process. Advisors may not speak on behalf of the student or organization and may not take an active role in the conduct process outlined below.